Beatrix Farrand: Private Gardens, Public Landscapes

A lecture by

Judith Tankard

Monday April 18, 5:30pm
in Taylor Hall 203 Followed by a reception in the Jade Room

Judith Tankard is a landscape historian and preservation consultant, who taught at the Landscape Institute of Harvard University for over twenty years. Among her many books on early twentieth-century gardens and landscapes is a monograph on Beatrix Farrand, one of the most celebrated American landscape architects (and a niece of Edith Wharton), known for her public and private commissions and her campus designs—including some for Vassar.
